CORROSHIELD® Self-Drilling Screws are designed to provide exceptional CORROSION RESISTANT capabilities. Our wide range of fasteners specializes in corrosion resistant threaded especially applicable in an outdoor environment where the screws are exposed to the contamination of the natural atmosphere.

Make your correct fastening choice with with CORROSHIELD® Fasteners and lower your cost by reducing wastage, maintenance and replacement overheads. Our expert engineers will be able to help your organization identify and propose correct fastening options for your projects.

The heavy metallic Zinc coating on the screws are coated with a method of plating which utilizes the mechanical energy to deposit the Tin-Zinc compound metals onto its surface. This method of plating provides far more advantages as compared to the conventional method of electro-plating in the Zinc to the screws. We have put our screws through various tests that are established by international standards like DIN, ASTM or AS. All tests are conducted bi-annually to show our customers the quality consistency of our coating. These tests are conducted only by internationally accredited test laboratories.
